

Due to the regulations in the New Jersey legislature, I can say that unwanted calls have been reduced 90%. I am a voter and value what my government has done to honor my right to peace and privacy. In todays times, people are much more vocal and thanks to the internet, we have more opportunities and places in which to register our complaints.

In the end, I do not understand why the FCC would not respect individual state's restrictions when it is already apparent that the citizen's in each state has already demanded more from their state representatives.

Do it right the first time.
